

HOUSING FOR PEOPLE WITH DISABILITY IN MY COMMUNITY

Workbook

The Pilot Project

August 2026

Joseph Connellan

josephconnellan.com · joseph.connellan@gmail.com

Housing People with Disability in My Community pro bono series

The Community Workbook Project

Why this project exists, and who it's for

Purpose

To help groups in a community understand, at little or no cost, the housing needs of people with disability in their own community and identify practical pathways to better housing.

People want to help people with disability get better housing, but the pathways are complex, hard to navigate, and specialist assistance is expensive.

A Three-Part Approach

People with Disability & Their Housing

Understanding who is affected and how housing shapes their lives.

Defining Housing Demand

Understanding the impact of housing barriers at an individual level.

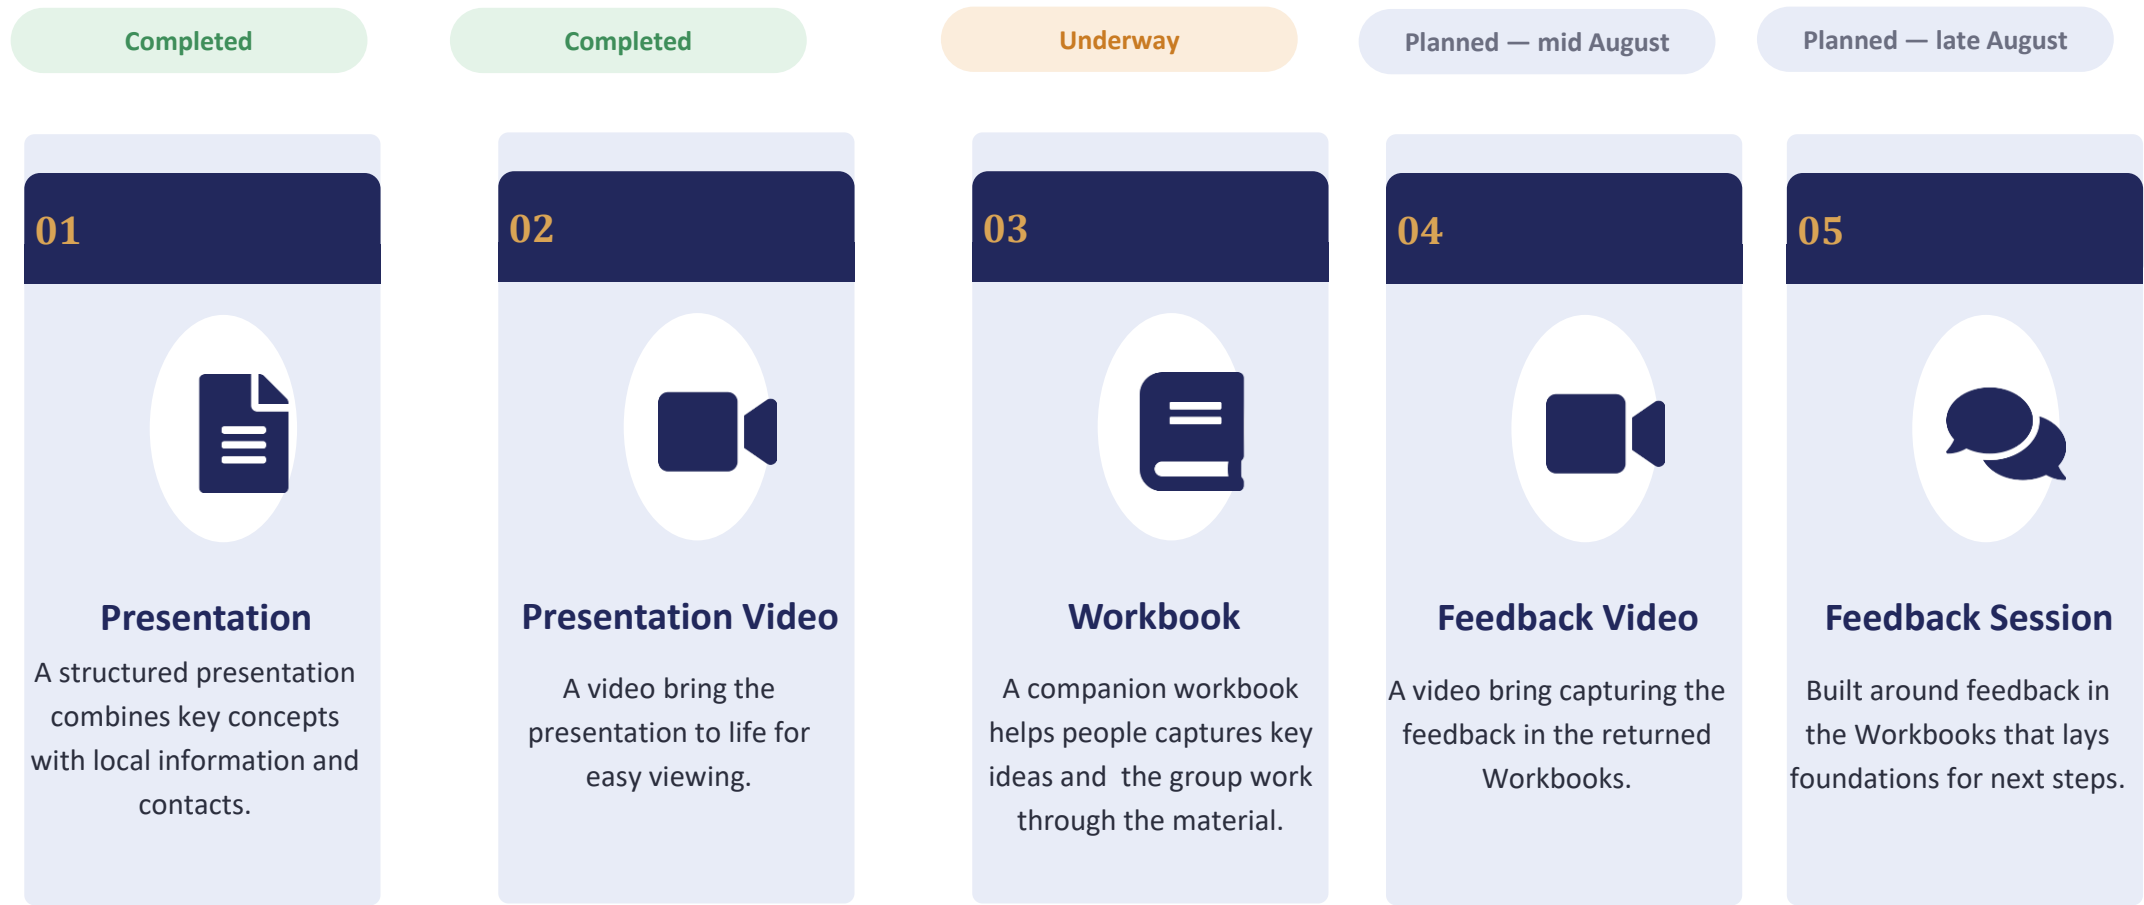

Housing Segments

The range of housing options available for people with disability.

How It Works: The Shire of Mount Alexander Pilot

Presentation, videos, workbook and feedback session — built with AI, overseen by an experienced consultant
Currently testing the concept and practice with the Mount Alexander Shire Accommodation and Respite Group (MASARG).
Presentation Video and Workbook available at www.josephconnellan.com

Get Involved

Questions & Comments Welcome

Want to Join the Pilot?

- Looking for more communities to pilot the project
- Can be run in any Local Government Area in Victoria
- All work is offered pro bono
- Workbooks and Videos in Pilot available from www.josephconnellan.com

Contact

Joseph Connellan

joseph.connellan@gmail.com

www.josephconnellan.com

Report No. 3 in the "Housing People with Disability in My Community" pro bono series.